Dear Sir:

I listened to your phone call on the Jim Eason Show on KGO today.

My great concern now, about the ruling of the Supreme Court, is that the tent of secrecy has become a fort.

Has the Court taken unto itself the right to change an act of Congress.

The formation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was very clearly stated. Now it appears they are holding evidence that actually belongs to the state of Texas. In fact it belongs, after all these years, to all of us.

As an amateur photographer for twenty years and with thirteen years experience selling and instructing when necessary, I watched the film of the shooting every chance I had. From my first viewing I swore not all the shots could have come from one spot. Needless to say, I was laughed at and called a "would-be Sherlock" etc. I was watching the actions of people along the street.

It has always been a matter of reaction to sounds, more than sights, that made me curious. Is there any possibility of knowing the wind direction and velocity that day?

People were dropping or running away from sounds, it sticks in the attic of my mind now as it struck me the first time I saw it.

Don't give up. "The truth will out", only if we refuse to allow it to be buried.

Sincerely Yours
Vivian E. Mitchell
